

Come take the waters.

Pure water from glaciers at the top of the world

Or chipped from icebergs off the coast of the Antarctic

From a sweet, fresh spring on the island of Tahiti

*From a well a thousand feet

From dew shaken from lavender each morning in the fields of Provence

From a suspended cistern cradling raindrops that have never struck the ground
